

Abstract

The invention relates to a bioactive rhenanite glass ceramic which is characterized by a high content of P_2O_5 , CaO and Na_2O and is particularly suitable as bone replacement material in dentistry.